CONTRIBUTION

The American Association of Law Libraries was founded in 1906. From the beginning, AALL has promoted and enhanced the value of law libraries within the legal community and to the public in general. AALL continues to guide the profession of law librarianship and provide leadership in the field of legal information.

As a unified community within AALL, Latino and Caribbean law librarians contribute unique perspectives to law librarianship in the United States. We foster growth within the profession through programs, seminars, workshops and activities open to the entire AALL community.

Please join us in our efforts!
