

Improve Your Workplace Health! Inoculate Against Bad Morale

LLNE Fall Meeting 2010

November 19, 2010

Northeastern University School of Law Library

Boston, MA

Libraries are being faced with demands for doing more with less and in some cases libraries are being closed or being threatened with closure. Information is coming in from all angles and monumental change happens as we sip our morning coffee. How can you be more efficient and more effective? How can you keep your spirits up as well as your colleagues and customers? Come to the Fall LLNE Meeting and find out!

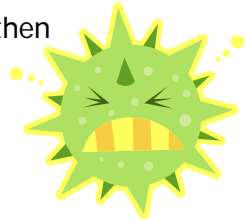

Come and learn from our speakers and share tips with each other:

Jay Hargis, Director of Learning & Development at Tufts Medical Center will give the keynote address on "Catching the Morale Virus" and how to keep an upbeat attitude at work and then spread it around.

Hamish Blackman, CEO of Wellness Corporation will talk about individual stressors and examines techniques for managing events, behavior, and attitude.

Jason Eiseman, Librarian for Emerging Technologies at Yale Law School will do a presentation on dealing with information overload.

Stephen Donweber, Senior Legal Information and Educational Technology Librarian at Pappas Law Library will be our facilitator for our joint brainstorming session on how we can apply these ideas and concepts to our own situations.
