

The Volunteer Librarians Coalition (VLC) is comprised of MALL Librarians from private law firms, county law libraries, academic law libraries, and an independent information specialist. We are members of the MALL Consulting & Community Outreach committee, with a focus to support the needs of the low-income people through collaboration with the Volunteer Lawyers Network (VLN). We've created a wiki, <http://vlcmn.info>, to allow VLN members and VLC organizers to communicate on a webpage by asking questions, answering questions, and posting valuable information to share with one another. Additionally, Thomson Reuters has generously provided content with Custom User Interface access for VLC Librarians for research to answer questions posted by VLN members.

Our mission statement is as follows, "As volunteer librarians from the Minnesota Association of Law Libraries, our mission is to facilitate the access to information needed by the Volunteer Lawyers Network (VLN) attorneys in representing economically disadvantaged people with legal problems. We are professional, experienced legal researchers; however, our professional ethics prohibit us from giving legal advice and from making legal determinations about the law." If you have questions about the wiki or the tasks involved, please call Jennifer Doyle or Trudi Busch. Should you wish to join us in this exciting venture, please contact Sara Galligan, Chair of the Consulting & Community Outreach Committee.
