

2008 AALL/Wolters Kluwer Law & Business Grant Funds Two Research Projects

The AALL Research Committee is pleased to announce that the 2008 AALL/Wolters Kluwer Law & Business Grant Program has funded two research grants.

John Doyle, associate law librarian at Washington and Lee University Law School Library, has been awarded $3,804 for his project, "Law Review Submissions."

Scott Frey, reference librarian at Western State University College of Law Library, has been awarded $1,500 for his project, "A Search Engine for Law-Related Public Domain Electronic Books."

The AALL/Wolters Kluwer Law & Business Grant Program was first established in 1996 with a generous contribution of $50,000 to sponsor research that will have a practical impact on the law library profession and inspire products and changes in the marketplace.

The AALL Research Agenda offers suggestions for possible research projects that cover a wide segment of professional interest, including the profession of law librarianship, law library patrons, law library services, legal research and bibliography, legal information resources, and law library facilities. The committee will consider all applications and research projects, whether on the agenda or not. To review AALL's Research Agenda, please visit www.aallnet.org/committee/research/agenda.asp.
