

by Cheryl Gritton

After announcing its “@your.law.library” contest in November, based on the American Library Association’s “@ your library” campaign, the Public Relations Committee received several creative entries. The committee created the contest to encourage librarians to use the brand @your.law.library to advertise and promote their specific libraries. The winning entry will be chosen and prominently displayed at the AALL Annual Meeting in July in Minneapolis. Below are the entries the committee received.
